Our Commitment To The Environment

At Hon, we are committed to not only providing high-quality medical marijuana products, but also to being environmentally responsible. That's why we refuse to use disposable batteries in favor of only using rechargeable ones for our vape pens, and updated our packaging from tins and plastic to paper.

Rechargeable batteries are designed to last longer than disposable ones and can be easily charged using a USB cable, which helps us to reduce waste and lessen our impact on the environment. This means that our patients can rely on our vape pens as a cost-effective and sustainable option for consistent and reliable performance, without having to worry about constantly replacing disposable batteries.

We also made the decision to update our packaging from tins and plastic to a more sustainable paper option that is recyclable and conforms with European health, safety, and environmental protection standards. By using our new and improved paper packaging, we can contribute to reducing the demand for new raw materials, minimize waste generation, and lower our company's carbon footprint.

As a responsible and ethical company, we believe that it is our duty to consider the impact of our operations on the environment and take steps to minimize any negative effects. By using rechargeable batteries going from tins and plastic to paper, we are not only doing our part to reduce waste, but also providing our patients with a more sustainable and long-term solution for their medical marijuana needs.

Hōn is an Ohio family-owned and operated brand of medical cannabis products, brought to life by our state of the art processing facility, Purpose Leaf.

Our mission is to help patients navigate alternative relief through education and easy to understand products.

The result is better solutions and better support.
